

FUSION 2018

Cambridge,
United Kingdom
10-13 July 2018

21st International Conference on Information Fusion

CALL FOR SPECIAL SESSIONS

The Fusion 2018 Organizing Committee is welcoming proposals for Special Sessions on the theory and application of information fusion. Of particular interest are proposals that address “breaking news” research or topics that may be difficult to categorize for the regular sessions.

Each special session proposal should include an overview of the topic that identifies the relevance of the topic and introduces the papers to be presented. Additionally, special session proposals are more likely to be accepted if they include at least 5 invited papers.

The following information must be included in the special session proposal:

- Title of the proposed special session
- Names and affiliations of the organizers, including brief bio and contact information
- Session abstract, including the significance of the topic and the rationale for the proposed session
- List of invited papers including a tentative title, author list and a short abstract for each paper

PROPOSAL REQUIREMENTS

Special session proposals will be evaluated based on the timeliness of the topic, relevance to the field of information fusion, number of potential papers (assessed from the list of invited papers), as well as the qualifications of the organizers. Once the proposal has been approved, it will be included among the sessions available for authors to submit their papers to.

All papers submitted to a special session will be reviewed through the same review process as the regular papers of the conference to ensure that contributions are of high quality.

If a special session has more papers accepted than the schedule can accommodate, some of the papers might be moved to other relevant sessions.

Proposals should be submitted as pdf files via the website

For additional information regarding the special sessions, please contact the Special Session Chairs Professor Gustaf Hendeby, Linköping University, Sweden and Professor Thomas Schön, Uppsala University, Sweden
